Something New in Portraiture
Old-Time Methods Revolutionized.
HARTLEY'S ARTISTIC CRAYONS
Are the Greatest Success of the period. A golden opportunity for all. Hartley's Superior Artistic Permanent Crayons, which stand as the most artistic, as they fill the long-felt want for first-class Artistic Portraits, the never-fail to please, at prices within the reach of the great majority. Until recently large and fine size pictures by means of the ordinary crayons, coming in vases, diamond, and engagement prizes, which to make pre-eminently required an amount of price to limiting the market to destroy the likeness, and sentiment have gone beyond the popular grasp.
Hartley's Permanent Crayons are the outcome of costly but successful experiments with the latest scientific invention of the age, resulting in Crayons which are distinguished for their excellent likeness, retaining perfectly the natural expression of the subject. They are free from the defects so common in the ordinary color prints. Their marvelous softness, beauty, and brilliancy of tone, and exquisite artistic finish, at once the use of Crayons, make them sought for by those who appreciate a Picture as Perfect as less than one-fourth the amount paid for a similar sized picture by the old objective system. The great success that has followed as though an innovation and splendid improvements in portraiture as Hartley's Permanent Crayons has resulted in securing the best talents and the appointment of a full corps in the production of this, our great specialty, so that now we are prepared to offer unprecedented advantages to the public in quality and price to our Crayons, which soon, cause a demand that stands to their probably.
However, they strike at the root of the questionable methods now resorted to by many first-class artists, who offer the same Crayon Portraits for (?), provided they receive the amount to buy of them a frame at a price many times its worth. Hartley's Artistic Crayons are produced upon an unyielding business system that enables him to furnish first-class Portraits Framed at prices far less than those peculiar schemes devised to deceive about, from time they engage with their free (?) Crayon bait, as a special examination of the following reasonably low prices will reveal:
Life-Size Crayon Portrait, with 12 Cabinets and 1 Panel,
$5.
Crayon Portrait, without Cabinets (if we have your negative),

TALK OF THE TAX ON WOOL.

[illegible]

Mr. La Follette Submitted to Amend Speaker Carlisle's Amendment—Sentiment Three Years Ago Against the Tax on Wool—Mills Again Declared the Foreign Consumer—Some Evidence on the Labor Side.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 14.—The House today resumed the consideration of the bill to reduce the revenue on woolens. Mr. La Follette (Rep.) of Indiana addressed the House in support of the amendment offered by Mr. Dingley, to which Mr. Carlisle (Dem.) of Kentucky had offered an amendment that the provisions of the bill should not take effect until Jan. 1, 1867. By a vote of yeas 17, nays 9, the House further refused now to go into Committee of the Whole on the tariff bill, the pending question being that relative to time.

Mr. Dingley (Rep.) of Maine, a member of the Committee on Ways and Means, then addressed the House in opposition to the Carlisle amendment, and a further conference was effected.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the tariff bill, the pending question being that relative to wool.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS AND FORECASTS.

"The Same Way" Does Dixon resolutions "denounce" [illegible] upon its encouragement to look to the city circulation as being guided by the Tribune as fast that it makes its lead wide.

"The Same Way" the services influence subsidy is that they are anonymous. The Union who writes an anonymous letter is a coward and a sneak. What he says is not believed because he has not the manhood to assume responsibility for it.

A motion was recently made in the British Commons favoring the disestablishment of the Scotch Established Church. Though defeated it was supported by a large vote, showing marked progress in favor of the principle of voluntary church support, not only in Scotland but in England. The figures were 204 for, 330 against. Two years ago when a vote was taken on a similar resolution the figures were 207 against, 130 for. General Liberal Convention voted in the last Congress with the Parnellites in favor of disestablishment.

One result of the recent agitation in England about beer is a sharp rise in the price of malt material in this part of the world. It will at first cause no great loss to brewers, but to such consumers as like a cheap article. The manufacturers of refined malt have claimed for their wares a superiority over the article sold by the packers on the ground that the former is the better of the two, and therefore entitled to a higher premium. The difficulty was adjusted by the use of labels, which the English malts have declined to be so stigmatized, and the refiners are now obliged to fall back upon last season, which is nothing more or less than pure malt from which the oil has been removed for superiors.

When Tax Dawson refuses to give less than 6 to 6 votes Penn Dixon declared he would never leave the example, but he "reached" in less than thirty days. He will vacate again about the 1st of September. It is impossible that the corner-post in Chicago, united with the best editor—a town every day-brother, dependent upon the prosperity of a few prominent manufacturers for its support—shall maintain the highest grow. The J.C. is at an unregarded salary never dreamed but one Dividend. It will probably never declare another. Dixon bound to a poor appointment and ready of rich men, but has never had the brains nor the influence to become independent himself. He is generally the last of a fellow who can expect to accumulate [illegible] evidence of his ability to do such respect, because he never had any standing among gentlemen to be willing to bow by a resort to practices that are tabooed among men of honor.

The local money market was moderately active and firm, with no change in rates. Loan securities were rather quiet and steady. Eastern exchange was firmer, at 75 cents premium. Sterles to Wall street were strong on, with good buying on orders from London. The Chicago produce markets were quiet and weaker, but recovered late in the day with news of bad weather in Europe. Advanced with Friday post-closed 1½ cents lower, but 2½ cents lower, the 2½ cents higher, wheat and corn each one cent, barley and flaxseed unchanged. The receipts in the city last week exceeded the shipments by 30,000 bushels in wheat and were less by 1,000,000 bushels in corn. The clearings of Chicago since the close of November 1st include 1,170,000 bags, against 1,170,000 for the same time last year and 1,000,000 for 60 in 1884.

The argument of the inquiry into the London Times' charges against Mr. Parnell, as delivered by the full bar counting the Constitution of Judges introduced by Mr. Smith in the British Commons Friday, is comprehensive enough and may be interpreted to include everything the Times wants to investigate and many things too which it does not want to inquire, including the career of the person who introduced the alleged Pigott letters and the Parnell forged letters. The Times' counsel declared last week that he would not under any circumstances divulge the names of those who furnished the documents in question. If the proposed bill becomes a law the London journal will have to name its electors or the Parnell prosecution. The committee has the power to summon witnesses under oath, to compel a full statement of all facts and documents, and to grant certificates protecting from all further proceedings, except for perjury, witnesses who may have criminated themselves." All the material facts will be thus made public. The case of the alleged Irish patriots will be left to the disinterested then in this shape. That Mr. Parnell will be vindicated by the investigation he himself fully believes.

Even reading the McKinley platform in type the delegates to the Chicago Convention discovered before adjournment that there was no hidden sting to the body of the tariff plank. Therefore they adopted the following resolution by a practically unanimous vote:

The first concern of good government is the health and safety of the people, and the duty of the Republican party to protect them by sanitary regulations, with or into and with especial care for the protection of dangerous and dormitory.

At the rate the last quotation stood it would seem that it should govern and control all to conflict with it that went before. If the Republican party "certainly sympathizes with all wise and well directed efforts for the protection of dangerous and sanitary" it certainly cannot favor the renewal of no one quarter of a century's policy on liquor taxation, especially as it has reduced the consumption of strong drink two-thirds and proved the most effective temperance measure ever inaugurated. Certainly if the language of the Boston resolution is to be answered by the following it cannot be understood that the Republican party will favor free stills and stores, reduced corn prices and a revenue of the consequences and tobacco-any that affected the country before the Republican party was in line with Mr. Blaine's defiance of the widely being policy of the Republican party. Imperative "request" legislation with Congress and all clearing to be Republican must make their fight against a continued Republican record of a high tax on whisky (settled by its results and approved in the last formal utterance of the United States Government.

THE DYNAMITE PLOT COMES NEAR HOME-NATIONAL.

The dense preparation of the case made by District Attorney Ewing in the opening before Commissioner Bacon, arraigning Bowles, Broderick, and Wilson for importing, not Reilly, Donovan, and Golding for handling dynamite cartridges, in violation of the Federal law, which makes it a great offense for any one to carry dynamite on any railway bring into their transportation, has evidently caused a panic in the ranks of the conspirators, and they are rapidly trying to save themselves, or at least to mitigate their punishment by confession. In addition to Reilly and Golding, the clerks of Cheesman, Hope and Hambly, and Davis, who the prisoners will state has actively connected to the explosive at South Queen the 14th of June last, Bowles and Golding have now sought to escape from the toil trap of the coming storm, by confessing as they move.

It may well be imagined that the complete and connected manner in which the District Attorney outlined the details of the plot was a surprise to the prisoners and their counsel. The substance of the opening statement was that during the latter part of May Bowles had talked with Davis about the plot, and that a few days before May 29 he went to Hugh's store and showed the latter the cartridges which he had previously bought in Indiana. On this latter and Davis drove to Dole and the former placed the cartridge on the track, where it exploded, tearing off a large piece of the flange of the forward truck wheel of an engine. A few days after the occurrence Bowles went to Indiana to buy more dynamite, having meanwhile received a draft for $100 from Golding's brother. Bowles, Broderick, and Wilson took them to the train and were on their way to Chicago when they were arrested.

The damning array of facts in the District Attorney's statement, sustained thus far by the evidence of Reilly, Chairman Hugh's secretary, the drivers of Kroenke who sold the cartridges to Bowles, and the engineers and firemen of the two trains, was evidently too much for Bowles and Golding, and they have placed themselves under such duress as the prosecution may be disposed to accept them. They are to a bad fix and naturally enough want to escape by compromise.

Broderick is so protests that they and their fellow-conspirators, now under arrest, are only cats in the hands of more cunning fellows, is inherent in the brotherhood, and the prosecution will have nothing further to search from. The officials of the brotherhood, Murphy and Dunn, the Chairmen of the Executive Committee, are already under arrest upon the charge of conspiracy, under the law to destroy the property of the Pennsylvania Railway Company. If there are any officials higher up in the brotherhood who have been guilty of conspiring or organizing the conspiracy they are in a fair way to be found out and brought to trial, no matter how influential they may be. In times of a general railroad strike will be likely to draw the prosecution from grade to the bottom of the conspiracy. The public whose lives and property are endangered by these dynamiters, have as much interest in the matter as the Burlington Road. If the men under arrest were acting upon their own malicious motive it would be infinitely easier for the brotherhood to promptly disavow their acts and clear their skirts of all responsibility for the evil acts than to indorse a conspiracy of a general body of railroad employees of the Union people. In any event a general strike, the causes of which are again current, will be the light of criminal folly and madness, and will relieve those who attempt to carry such out to a more plight than they are in now.

WILL THE SUN SHINE BRIGHT?

The cable says that Sun Lee commissioner to Hong Kong from Russia and taking up the war in an attack in the Mediterranean near the coast of France, which he is to acquire by absolute purchase. The present means of the establishment from the Pascal City is the appointment of gendarmes by the Government of Italy. During recent local elections, in a part, hostile demonstrations by armed mobs, which it seems were directed against the Pope's spiritual authority, were tolerated by the local government, if not connived at. The fear is put forth by the Pontiff that the incident indicates a determination to render his life as miserable to Rome that he may as well quit it.

The story is not inherently probable, at least so far it has been. Crispi have once passed harmoniously from the Vatican question, to which there are many white pictures. No object can be nothing gained than to bring pressure to the Rome ministers into the best government of the city, and through it on the Italian Parliament. The attendants of the Pontiff would solicit upon Roman beleaguers, shopkeepers, artists, and workmen in general a war that would cause a considerable number of them into bankruptcy. The life of course would be lived in misery and profusion. It is the policy to the maintenance of the Pope and the separate and gorgeous spectacle and ceremonials which attend his presence and thus make the ritual of the church. Anything diminishing the number of visitors would be looked upon by the Roman trade as heinous, and to prevent this case against the ministers administration to maintain the usual purpose of the supposed voluntary exile of the Pontiff.

There is no friend in the Mediterranean near the coast of France were which the Pope could erect and maintain a suitable and ample residence. The smaller vessels, the one greatest, are subject to duty, and the Pope, should he antagonize King Humbert's (contemporary enmity), probably would find it hard to acquire one. Most of those capable are hideous, sterile, and full of terrors. They are reserved to nature for exotic life. They are dangerous by reason of earthquakes, volcanic disturbances, and malaria. They are wild and hot. They have neither harbors, lighthouses, nor hotels. On not of these the Pope would have to lead a life such as harmonized with early ascetic habits, surrounded, it might be, with a few personal followers, but practically isolated by his own will from the world. The reservation of the rest accumulations because of the church, the ruins of Vatican and clergy, the holding of ceremony, the carrying on of diplomacy, for which Leo XIII. has a great love ladies among, would be impossible.

It has been predicted often that the violation which Pius IX. perpetrated between himself and the Kingdom of Italy would be resorted by a more pious and conciliatory successor. As time passes this prediction remains unfulfilled. Leo has shown by his dealings with Russia, with Bismarck, with the French Republic, with the back door to negotiate of the Vatican in the vicinage of the Tuileries, a more tenacious policy than ever asserted the temporal power. To all the rest of the world he indulges a hopeless dream. The flight of time closed the door forever upon the sense of Church and State in Italy with the exception of Victor Emmanuel. The wonderful progress of Italy since that time confirms the wisdom of the abstraction of the Italian people to separate religion and politics and unite the peninsula under one strong, free Government. It is to be regretted that the Italians are of the faith of which the Pope is the spiritual head. If they people in their refusal to renounce the Pontificate to temporal pretensions a would it become the one of the world to interfere to ratify their practically overthrow the union.

The municipal government is reasonable if it has personal note to depart to enemy. The threat of retirement of the Council probably will have the effect of calling the attention of the King to the municipal neighborhood of. Every argument of interest, of order, and of good repute will be on the side of supporting the law police and maintaining that peace and freedom without which strangers would be no more comfortable to Rome than the citizens themselves. If this be the result of the story about the retreat to the Mediterranean it will have done more good than most political remarks accomplish.

FISHERY DISPUTES.

Like engines hot and moment drink that reading to which mankind nations during the summer have come to fight and free from unfriendliness dissolutions. As the body has learned to rest while the temperature is high the mind learns by the same intuition to attract that person or subject effort on the very part is sure to lead to suspicion that results in waste of energy and loss of time. The sun this side not for a walking and while the memory is to the caption, not to mention the blisters, is likely to end the venture to the hospital. The matter who undertakes to measure history, philosophy, theology, scientific tactics, metaphysics, and dialectics in July and August is reasonably sure to acknowledge when the latter one of September arrives that he gained nothing by his intellectual rapidity.

Luckily for those who delay reading in hot months and can take time for it the answer is well supplied. Hits now and twelve months. A cheap American edition of "Lothair Disraeli," the novel which has stirred England to its depths as none since since George Eliot wrote "Middlemarch," is announced. The demand for it in Chicago and through the Northwest has been prevalent and white since the review in The Tribune unanimously when the London publications. Whoever desiring to suggest intellectual refreshment, and desiring only a lark, the report of the book reviews on the novel to discuss how genial the reading of The Tribune is among the cultivated people of the Northwestern States. No other journal in the country except a weekly publication of New York has reviewers, up to the time, the most engineering novel published in many years. The weekly alluded to announced a commencement upon to a few weeks ago, following the issue of that in The Tribune. Although a novel of and rather dull of action, a study of excellence rather than a series of accidents, in genius is preferred, to incense unflagging, and as a revelation of the spiritual and moral condition of the lowest race in the nineteenth century to commence now and keep are marvelous. It will be for several years the novel most read and most discussed among the fortunate.

We have an abundance of lighter entertaining; are romance studies enough for the week Sundays; novels of mysteries, of events, of love, and of society. We have until Labor which will harmonize the subject with dreams of love-making on the green, laboratory hours following the example of Darwell's "Lothair" and exciting common rule to select more laboriously as the function demand and denounce". Sunday school future exhibit for the leaves of the snow and the lively romance in the last day's sentences, which only the snow will not the leaves, and other times adapted for the new conditions of the Presidencies. We have fourteen sentences holes written by Henry James, and fourteen sentences of future for holes-grade and strong sentences by Mr. Howells. The sentence continue to serve hours of study, pain, weary, and shrink made by with scientific precision for the lighter and most sensitive temper of the time. Where waste is read to be wasted cannot complain that our English Government of the year and the women is not so Great, as Greek, as virtuous, and as prosperous as the Romans was during, and will close who read for moral profit, as well as for relief, bereaved, that the ancient empire fallowed in time.

A CHICAGO PAPER WEIGHT CHAIR.

A brass-mounted Chicago print, which claims to be "the only morning Republican newspaper published in Chicago," denounces the Hiles-McKinley tax weekly scheme and mentions Mr. Blaine's defense of the measure as inconsistent with the declaration of the Republican Convention, which is pronounced "the highest authority" on the question as to the moral effect of the tax. Considering Blaine's rank and dominating the whole tax question to the Republican party and encouraged by it for over a quarter of a century, and viewing that "the opinion of Presidentiable is the highest possible authority upon the moral phase of the tax," that must be the impression to date that it is the only faithful advocate of Republicanism, and that all opposed to it and in free trade editor should be read out. That our readers may see that he prefers a correctly stated we quote his own words from the issue of the 27th inst.:

The Republican platform has for nothing of [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

CHICAGO REAL ESTATE.

NEW UNION DEPOT TO STIMULATE THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

Work Soon to Begin—Improvement Movements That Are No Sign of a Sales Boom—Sight and Space to Offer Buildings—Profits to Southern Lands—Sentiment and Dangers of Building Associations—Various Notes.

The improving reports as to the crops, the revival in the stock market, the steadiness of the money market, and the steady return of visits to merchandise have materially stimulated the sports of the real-estate men, and the market last week had a good time for entertainment. There was no visible increase in transactions, but a fair inquiry for all sorts of property and a more confident development of plans for the fall. Even the demand for small lots was called good, particularly in the south of the city, though the rush to that department is so unfashionably over for the season. Prospects to prices can be asserted anywhere—that is, those prices which were based on rare and actual transfers to the county. In some cases asking prices have been raised, partly on account of the expectations of improvements that are not yet in sight. The West Side people have met with some disappointments, because they have all along expected that the sailing of the street railroad bill would begin before the date. There are as yet no signs of the commencement of the work, and in many cases holders now see that they have actually injured their prospects of making satisfactory trades by clearing the path for the future. In that part of the North Side which will be benefited by the subway it is expected that the work will be completed in about two months. There is a good demand for cheap property not on the North Side, which is attributable partly to the current political scheme. The single transferred and sold were small, but it was thought that the tenor of the afternoon current gossip was directed to the south. At South Chicago very small transactions were actually consummated, but persons who have watched that region for years say that it is rapidly getting rid of the dilapidated appearance, and that property which could not a short time ago be moved for manufacturing uses is wanted for manufacturing uses readily. South Chicago has had its boom and no extravagant or new thoughts are to be in process of quality growth. If there is any change in the current sentiment it is that direction of moderation. There is a good deal of talk about money to be had, but its holders are not as free with it as the borrowers are with applications.

The title to the property is vested in the Union Club, which is controlled by H. H. The lot is 80x100, and the building is two stories and basement, with a frontage of 80 feet. Many of the operators have also signed the scale, and the mines have been generally reopened. The men will not receive their pay for the time they were out.

Fred Leuchtmann, assistant to the Forty-Second Station, a young man about 21 years old, was arrested yesterday for stealing and selling articles. Goodman of Evanston, Ill., who secured the conviction of the defendant on the two complaints on the charges. The specific charges against Leuchtmann are the theft of a gold watch and chain, a gold ring, a pair of opera glasses, and a number of articles of wearing apparel from the Brady residence, and a gold watch and chain from the Goodman residence. Leuchtmann was employed by Mr. Brady as a coachman, and by Mr. Goodman as a gardener. The articles were found in the defendant's room in the rear of the stable on the Brady premises. Leuchtmann was arrested by Detectives Kenney and Hoffman, and he made a confession to them. He was taken before Judge Kersten in the Criminal Court yesterday morning, and pleaded guilty to the charges. He was sentenced to the penitentiary for one year on the Brady charge and for one year on the Goodman charge, the sentences to run concurrently.

CITY LEAGUE PLAYERS.

THEIR FIRST GAMES WILL TAKE PLACE NEXT SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

They Are To Longer Amateurs, but Professionals, and Thus Far Have Met with a Fair Share for the Present—Interesting Ceremony of the Above Association—Cricket Sport on Lake Front—Notes of the Players and Managers.

The City League recently sprung, but existed only since the coming of the present season. Prior to that time it was the Chicago Amateur Base-Ball Association. The organization of the league was the outcome of a split between the association and the baseballists, the latter demanding a larger percentage of the gate receipts and the former positively refusing. Accordingly, the league delegates met behind closed doors in the parlors of the Grand Pacific hotel, and after a long session, at which considerable feeling was displayed, the league was formed, with the following officers: President, Thomas Ryan; vice-president, Frank Hough; secretary, Frank Hough; treasurer, Frank Hough; executive committee, Thomas Ryan, Frank Hough, Frank Hough, Frank Hough, Frank Hough. The officers did not feel elated over the honors conferred upon them, but accepted the positions with the determination to make the league a success, and they have succeeded. The league is composed of eight clubs, as follows: Chicago, Pullman, Englewood, Hyde Park, Lake View, Lincoln Park, Kensington and Calumet. The schedule of games was arranged so that each club would play every other club on its own grounds and on the grounds of its opponents. The season opened on May 30, and will close on Sept. 12. The championship pennant will be awarded to the club winning the largest number of games. The league has adopted the National League ball, and the umpires will be selected from the National League staff. The salaries of players are limited to $1,500 per season, and no player can receive more than $125 per month. The league has also adopted the National League rules governing the game, with the exception of the pitching rule, which allows the pitcher to throw the ball as he pleases, instead of delivering it from a certain position, as required by the National League rules. The league has also adopted the National League rule governing the batting order, which requires the batsmen to bat in the order in which their names appear on the score-card.
